08:30-09:30 Palace of Independence, Ceremonial Hall, Ground Floor	PANEL SESSION INTEGRATIONAL PERSPECTIVES OF SMALL AND MEDIUM-SIZED BUSINESS IN THE REPUBLIC OF KAZAKHSTAN
	Support USAID Macroeconomic Project
	The contribution of small and medium sized business in countries with high rate of fuel energy complex in economic as well as Kazakhstan is warping by business climate on oil. As a result of the oil price growth and outrunning of oil gas sector the ratio of SME in GDP of Kazakhstan reduced in spite of general positive dynamics. SME in Kazakhstan is more developed than in Russia. Here we should mention that nearly all agricultural sectors are considered SME. Thus we may state that the SME differences in our countries are small. Approximately law contribution of SME in our countries notifies about some barriers in sector's development.

16:00-17:50 Palace of Independence, Press Center Hall , Ground Floor	GLOBAL FINANCIAL CRISIS: OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDUSTRIALIZATION
	Organizer: "Eurasian Economic Club of Scientists" Association
	The spectacular growth of emerging market economies in the pre-crisis period, largely driven by rising commodity prices, did not necessarily reflect an increase in the value-added production or a notable shift towards more industrialized content. Now that the financial crisis put an end to commodities boom and significantly affected resource export revenues of developing countries, moving towards industrialization might become even more difficult, while at the same time more necessary than ever before to secure these countries' future. What are the opportunities and challenges posed by the crisis for building industrial capacity of emerging market countries and their development prospects?
	Moderator: Kairat Kelimbetov , Deputy Prime Minister of the Republic of Kazakhstan
	Speakers:
	Jeffrey R. Currie , Global Head of Commodities Research of Goldman Sachs
	Ahmed Ateeq Al Mazrouei , Chairman of the Board of Director of Al Hilal Bank Kazakhstan and Executive Director for Infrastructure of Abu Dhabi Investment Council
	Eric Lalo , Managing Director of Lazard and Co-Head of the Sovereign Advisory Group
	Marc Holtzman , Vice Chairman of Barclays Capital
	Petko Draganov , Deputy Secretary-General of United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD)

17:00-17:50 Palace of Independence, Oval Hall, Ground Floor	DIALOGUE WITH EDWARD LUTTWAK GEO- ECONOMICS OR ORGANIC GROWTH?
	Organizer: "Eurasian Economic Club of Scientists" Association
	Most raw materials are bought and sold internationally through normal commerce between suppliers and buyers, whether on a spot basis or under term contracts. But in recent years, in the name of "economic security", there have been many efforts to buy not just the raw materials but also the mines or deposits where they come from, sometimes entering into broader political arrangements with the countries in question in the hope of better securing these investments. This is a form of "geo-economics" (the logic of strategy with the methods of commerce). What are the benefits, costs and risks of this

	kind of "geo-economic" procurement for raw material exporters?
	Moderator: Sultan Akimbekov, Political Scientist, Historian, Editor in Chief of "Continent", the Former Director of the Institute of World Economics and Politics at the Foundation of the first President of the Republic of Kazakhstan
